

Relationship MATCH

01

Everyone has standards in a relationship. Do you and your partner share the same standards? It is important to have the same values so you know if the relationship will work.

02

Finding where your standards match is like bingo. Get 4 in a row. Understanding and knowing each others standards provides a sense of security with each other. Knowing early on can also help avoid problems.

03

Seeing if your standards line up are important for a relationship especially if its long term. Finding if your standards match is important so always question your standards when going into a relationship
